

Candy Strippers Make Use of Leisure Time

Helping Others As They Look to the Future

LEARN SHOP KEEPING

The Gift Shop, operated by the Bay Harbor Hospital Guild, and filled with gift items for the patients, is also a place where the Candy Stripers can learn. Jackie Hizar, a Candy Striper, reaches high on a shelf to bring down stock items for Mrs. Helen Aramill, an Auxiliary member on duty at the shop.

The Candy Strippers, a group of young girls from 15 to 18 years of age, have put their leisure time this summer to good use by assisting at the Bay Harbor Hospital in Harbor City.

These young girls are not only enjoying the reward of having helped others but many have used this opportunity to take a look at the future, for here in the halls of this hospital, they get a firsthand look at the nursing profession, the medical field, hospital business administration, laboratory technician work, and many other fields necessary in the operation of a hospital.

Since the formation of the Candy Strippers at the Bay Harbor Hospital in September, 1964, these girls have given over 9,000 hours of service.

The Candy Strippers, now numbering 30, are under the auspices of the Bay Harbor Hospital Guild. Mrs. Edna Pierce of San Pedro is Candy Striper chairman this year.

The duties of the Candy Striper are many and varied. They include delivering mail and flowers to patients; supervising the magazine cart; keeping dish cupboards and coffee pots filled in medical, surgical and obstetrics wings; caring for flowers in patients' rooms.

Other duties assigned to the young helpers are running errands to Central Supply for nurses; taking dismissal slips to admitting; errands to x-ray and laboratory; empty linen bags and replace with clean bags; assisting in pediatrics when needed; taking used dishes to kitchen; and picking up breakfast and luncheon trays.

The Candy Striper program is open to all girls, 15 to 18 years of age. More information concerning the program may be had by calling the Bay Harbor Hospital.

HAPPY NOTES OF CHEER

Speeding up delivery of those cheery get-well notes to the patients at Bay Harbor Hospital are these Candy Strippers, who must sort the mail, check out room numbers and then deliver them. Here, Lyn Helzer, behind the counter, is writing room numbers on mail and handing the letters to Holly Slavens for delivery while Karen Henson sorts the mail by room numbers for faster delivery.

CHECKING OUT SUPPLIES

Central Supply at the hospital, where linens, towels, thermometers, lotions and other items necessary for each patient are kept, gets attention from the Candy Strippers. Lillie Byrne, clerk in Central Supply, checks out number of towels for delivery to Joyce Kennedy while Gloria Bourassa, another Candy Striper, packs a room kit of necessities for the patient.
